

VERSIGARD® EPDM

PREMIUM Membrane Material Warranty

First introduced in 1962, EPDM roof membranes have grown exponentially in both popularity and quality throughout the past five decades. More than 50 years of product innovations and improvements have made today's EPDM roof systems a greater value than ever before.

Inspired by EPDM's long history of dependable performance, Versico is offering a new warranty for its 90-mil VersiGard EPDM. The industry-leading 40-year PREMIUM Membrane Material Warranty is a full non-prorated material warranty that provides unparalleled coverage over the depreciable life of the roof.

Benefits of EPDM

EPDM membranes have excellent long-term performance characteristics, including exceptional UV stability and weathering resistance. Versico's VersiGard EPDM membrane leads the industry, withstanding 41,580 kJ/m² of exposure in the ASTM Xenon-Arc accelerated weathering test.

EPDM is long-lasting – recent testing on 30-year-old EPDM membrane indicated the membrane still exceeded the ASTM physical performance standards for new EPDM in tensile strength, tear resistance, brittleness, and resistance to water absorption.

Manufactured without an internal scrim, Versico's monolithic non-reinforced EPDM provides significantly more weathering material than reinforced thermoplastic membranes, delivering unmatched protection against moisture intrusion

Protect your building with a high-performance, durable, dependable roofing system and an industry-leading warranty from a company with a 50-year track record of commercial roofing expertise. Versico's 90-mil VersiGard EPDM with a 40-year PREMIUM Membrane Material Warranty is an ideal choice for your next roofing project.
